

Jack Lenet

President

Tenel Customs Consultants

Jack Lenet has more than forty years of professional experience working in customs brokerage firms and is considered proficient in the laws and regulations of Canadian Customs after completing his exams under the Customs Brokers Licensing Regulations. He has extensive knowledge of the rules and regulations under NAFTA (rules of origin) and other trade agreements, and is particularly well-informed on the importation of textiles from abroad and their exportation to the United States.

Through Tenel Customs Consultants, Jack performs in-depth customs audits for importers, exporters and manufacturers, helping companies to review and streamline their customs practices. He has, for example, helped dozens of importers to qualify for the Canadian Duties Relief Program and has been involved in activities that have led to savings and remunerations of hundreds of thousands of dollars. Jack has presented workshops to customs brokerage firms, manufacturers and importers on the rules for importing and exporting apparel under NAFTA, and Tariff Preference Levels (TPL).
